

Mary Magdalene and her mission for these times.

In these times of secularization, especially in the Roman Catholic church which has been haunted by many scandals, numerous untold people either in part or fully have turned their backs to this religion and their belief in God as was presented for centuries. Now a days people don't want to tie themselves to a religion that preaches until recently hell and damnation if one did not follow the indoctrination of the church. A part of the church deserters did not want to tie themselves to anything and banished a belief in God from their life. The other part of church deserters went searching for a hold fast and they often found this in the numerous new Age movements, Indian gurus or shamanism. Christ as an inspiring power along with his mother, Mary, and other Roman Catholic saints were literally shown the door because their images that used to be predominately displayed in living rooms were after that no longer present. I am familiar with stories of believers up until the 1960's of the 20th century that still worshipped their crucifix, their Christ statue or Mary picture and suddenly were swept up in the religious revolution wherein people freed themselves from the chains of dogmatism in which religion had imposed on them. I know of images that literally were thrown in the water to never be seen again. People felt free, but is that so?

In these times we see millions of drug addicts over the whole world and the reason for this addiction among other things is that they cannot handle the daily reality and are searching diligently for another state of consciousness, whereby they for short or long periods don't have to be present in the harsh daily reality. People could find no more comfort in religion and her Gods and Goddesses. People felt lonely and alone, as if nothing else existed than what could be observed with the five senses. But there are also millions of people that are optimally busy on a daily basis with their families, their work and their community service to their fellow human beings and still feel deprived of their Godly connection and still to a certain extent feel very happy. This has ultimately everything to do with awareness. Every human being has a God spark, a spiritual connection with the Almighty. This God spark =(Holy Ghost=Sophia/wisdom=Light=Awareness) is continually available to be opened, creating an understanding that there is in essence no emptiness in oneself but from the spiritual world there is guidance to conscious connections with love and wisdom that stem from these Godly powers. Often when people are searching for that spiritual connection it seems that these are blocked by the shutdown of certain chakra's. We see that it is not always easy to reopen the closed chakra's. (The closing is often caused by suffering and sadness and the hardness of life.) Yet often there is from an unexpected source, energy present which forms an indispensable key for opening certain chakra's.

Her performance is not based upon myth, fable or fabrication but is a historical fact.

Chakra's

Through my work with spiritual radiesthesie it is possible for me to measure if someone's chakra's are open or closed. To bring about an optimal exchange of energy between a person and the cosmos, all chakra's need to flow of energy. If for example the root chakra, also named the Muladhara chakra, is closed, then one is not well grounded. The solution to being grounded is to go into nature. To consciously connect and physically touch nature. The sacral chakra stands for sexuality and creativity. Creative expression is fully expanded when the sacral and the other chakra's are working optimally. With regard to the solar plexus, this chakra is opened if closed by the power of love from the heart of Mary, the mother of Jesus. This is clearly demonstrated by my measurements and this is confirmed by the many responses I have received about this. Similarly the key to definitively opening the heart chakra, if closed, is done by the mystical heart of Christ. Images of Mary and/or Christ whose both hands are pointing to the heart, are representing the energy of these Godly powers. (See my article about this in the magazine Spiegelbeeld from September 2015.)

A very recent discovery is that the intense power of love from Mary Magdalene stands for the opening of the throat chakra.

Mary Magdalene

Why Mary Magdalene? There is much evidence that has emerged that she was the partner of Jesus during both of their lives. Sometime after the crucifixion of Jesus she fled to the South of France to escape the Roman persecution. There is a lot of information about this, for instance the Benedictine scholar Rabanus Maurus (776-856) in his books about the holy Mary Magdalene. Rabanus wrote about the arrival in Marseille in the Gallic province of Vienne. After that the refugees spread out. Mary Magdalene and Maximinus went together to Aix and Martha went to Tarascon. Mary Magdalene speaks to the inhabitants of the province. Her performance is not based on a myth, fable or imagination but is a historical fact. In the 'Golden Legend' of Jacobus de Voragine and written between 1260 and 1264 it reads: "In the 14th year after the suffering of the Lord and ascension, long after the Jews had killed Stefanus and expelled the other disciples out Judea, the disciples left to other countries of different nations and spread the word of God. During this time one of the 72 disciples, the blessed Maximinus, was with the apostles. It was Maximinus to whom St. Peter had commended the guardianship of Mary Magdalene. During the diaspora were Maximinus, Mary Magdalene, Lazaus, her sister Martha, Martha's maid servant Marthilla, the blessed Cedonius and many other Christians were put on a ship by the heathens without a helmsman or rudder into the ocean so that they would all drown but by God's providence they finally arrived in Marseille."

Mary Magdalene is also pictured with a book or scroll in her hands representing knowledge. She is not a dumb woman. Mary Magdalene is literate; she can read and write. And she did public appearances and proclaimed a universal and mystical Christianity.

The 'Gold Legend' states: "When the blessed Mary Magdalene saw the people gather to bring sacrifices to the idols, she came forward calmly and with a serene face, advised them with carefully chosen words to leave the honoring of the Gods and preached with inspiration about Jesus to them. All that heard her admired her beauty, her elegance and the sweetness of her message."

When I read these stories in the book of Dr. Annine E.G. van der Meer 'The Black Madonna from Primal to Final Times', it felt as a flash of revelation, that her power could have to do with the throat chakra. I felt a certain logic. Mary the Mother of Jesus opens the solar plexus, Jesus the heart chakra and Mary Magdalene with her elegance the throat chakra.

Magdalene and the throat chakra

Now it was necessary to find a good image of Mary Magdalene which would radiate her correct Godly power, because not every image of Jesus, Mary and Mary Magdalene represent their correct Godly power. Because of the infinite possibilities of the internet I found the attached picture of Mary Magdalene with the magnetism of her as a Godly creature.

My feeling is a premise that Mary Magdalene could have to do with the opening of the throat chakra in the correct way. Now only the evidence. Two days later after this supposed discovery I had my first client, and although I once in a while get a client with a closed throat chakra, this client came indeed with a closed throat chakra. On one of my tables the tools are shown that one needs to grow spiritually. A few days before I also had added the name of Mary Magdalene and yes, the measurement indicated that this person should connect to Mary Magdalene.

Because this person put her hand on the attached image of Mary Magdalene I could show her after a while that her throat chakra opened at that moment. The evidence was provided, although I know that this chakra did not open permanently and that the client has to continue working with it. To my surprise two days later my next client also had a closed throat chakra and again it was the energy of Mary Magdalene that demonstrably opened this chakra. Never before did I have two clients in a row that both had closed throat chakras.

Using the voice with love

Hippolytus from Rome, one of the church fathers that lived in the beginning of the 2nd century, cited James, the brother of Jesus, saying that James handed down many words to Mary Magdalene. This proves the eloquence of Mary Magdalene. One of her secrets that may now be revealed is that she by her power activates speech and eloquence. Someone who is an introvert will express themselves better by her loving energy. This also applies to someone who has been silenced for years. However her energy for the throat chakra is only activated if one uses their voice to point out to others, who possibly are still sleeping, the love and the wisdom of the heart.

By choosing the right words and sounds the hearts of others can be activated to be opened for Gnosis or knowledge and loving words that originate in the heart. It is in these times of great disorder that the heavenly powers open the gates to remind us of our inextricable connection with the Godly consciousness.

This last one is the third discovery in the past three years about opening the chakras. First I discovered three years ago the opening of the heart chakra by the mystical heart of Christ. Last year the loving heart of Mary was added with the opening of the solar plexus, the feeling chakra. And now through the received momentum, there is proof that by her eloquence Mary Magdalene stands for the opening of the throat chakra, to express with a clear and distinct voice insights which are related to love and wisdom.
